Business Men Look For Trade With Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said today a survey shows a great many American businessmen are looking to the Administration to open new avenues of trade with the Communists.

Fulbright made public letters received by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which he heads, as part of its investigation into the advisability of expanding trade with Soviet Russia and its Eastern European satellites. Fulbright toured Yugoslavia this week at the invitation of the Tito government.

The investigation was started last spring after Canada's sale of wheat to Russia and the subsequent sale of privately-owned American wheat to the Soviets with Export-Import Bank credit guarantees.

The findings could lead the Johnson Administration into new policy decisions in the new session of Congress.

In an introduction to a 300-page volume of letters received from 125 businessmen among 214 asked for their views, Fulbright said 105 favored expansion of East-West trade.

Nine, he said, were opposed, and among those who did not express an opinion, "some said they looked to the government for guidance."

Leftist U-Boat Protest Flops

SASEBO, Japan (AP) — The U.S. nuclear submarine Seadragon returned to its Pacific patrol today, leaving behind angry leftists who failed to produce the massive protest demonstrations they promised for the three-day visit.

About 30 Communists sat down outside the gates of the big American Navy base an hour before the submarine glided out of the harbor. Two minutes after the Seadragon left its mooring they got to their feet, raised clenched fists and shouted: "Atom sub go home... don't come back!"

Leftist groups — Socialists, Communists and some labor unions — tried to muster big protests against the submarine's visit. They predicted up to 15,000 persons would demonstrate but the peak was about 3,000.

Police clashed with demonstrators several times, but injuries were confined mostly to bloody noses and bruises.

The Seadragon came to Sasebo to take on provisions and give its 9 officers and 99 enlisted men a recreational visit. Japan and the United States recently reached agreement on such visits by nuclear powered vessels.

Churches Will Unite In Canada

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — A blueprint for uniting Canada's two largest Protestant churches into the Church of Canada has been completed, but leaders of both said realization is still years away.

The plan for uniting the Anglican and United Churches of Canada into a communion of nearly four million persons was three years in preparation. Talks on church union first started in 1943.

Under the proposed union, baptism and the Lord's Supper would be the only two sacraments recognized. Five lesser sacraments traditionally recognized by the Anglicans — marriage, ordination, anointing the sick, penance and confirmation — would be dropped.

Baltimore Girl Teen-Age Queen

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Carolyn Mignini, a sparkling lyric soprano from Baltimore who wants a Broadway singing career, is the new Miss Teen-age America.

The 17-year-old beauty with a dimpled smile looked dazed but didn't cry when Bud Collyer, emcee of the 90-minute CBS show, named her the winner.

A straight A student at the Institute of Notre Dame High School, Carolyn is a "real sweet, down to earth girl," her mother said. "You can also say that I'm the happiest mother in Maryland and Texas."

Lakes Shipping Short Of Pilots

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (AP) — Capt. John Watson, supervising pilot for the Department of Transport at St. Catharines, said Friday there are not enough pilots to meet present shipping demands.

He was commenting on a pilot shortage that has been causing delay of ocean-going vessels in the Great Lakes. They have been waiting at both ends of the Welland Canal for pilots to take them through.

"The situation is chronic," Capt. Watson said. "Taking a vessel through the canal is as nerve-wracking and full of tension for the pilot as it is for the captain."

"There will have to be an increase in the number of pilots for next season if the weight of traffic keeps up the way it has in the past month or two," he added.

The captain said that in an effort to remedy the situation, certain ship's masters who meet the requirements of the canal authority are being allowed to go through the canal without pilots.

Capt. Watson said his 64 pilots are tired out, many of them having worked more than 80 hours a week recently.

J.R. Baldwin, deputy minister of transport, said in a telephone interview that the shortage of pilots and the tie-ups were serious problems, and there was no immediate solution.

He said the situation would get considerable study this winter.

Waiters Miss Boat In Chicago, Catch It By Bus

CHICAGO (AP)—Two British waiters, who missed their boat Friday, hoped to catch it by bus today in Michigan.

Paul Kennedy and William Torrington, both 19, spent Thursday night seeing Chicago. When they arrived at Navy Pier they learned their home away from home, the Irish motor vessel Roanthead had cast off.

The ship's master had reported the boys missing to police and immigration authorities.

Kennedy and Torrington turned themselves over to the port director who transferred them to the Immigration Service. The Chicago agent for the shipping line agreed to put them on a bus to Port Huron, where they hoped to rejoin the Roanthead.

Kennedy lives in Glasgow, Scotland, and Torrington in Belfast, Ireland.

Deer Gun Kills Wakefield Boy In Automobile

WAKEFIELD (AP)—A youth in a moving automobile was shot and killed accidentally Friday by another youth who was target-shooting in a road, state police reported.

A deer rifle bullet went through the car windshield and struck Paul Salmela, 17, of Wakefield, in the head. Salmela died almost instantly, police said. He was a passenger in the car.

Police said the shot was fired by Allan Hurja, 19, of Wakefield. Hurja was taken into custody for questioning at the Wakefield state police post.

Hurja was firing at a five-pound sack of flour in the road as a car driven by Roy Williams, 17, of Wakefield, approached, police said. Salmela was in the front seat with Williams. Williams was unharmed.

Police said Hurja was standing in the middle of the road at the time. The scene was a side road two miles northeast of here.

Pressmen May Quit Picketing

DETROIT (AP) — A spokesman for a striking pressmen's union said today members would be urged to remove picket lines Sunday from the Detroit Free Press and return to work.

A strike which closed both the morning Free Press and afternoon Detroit News now is in its 124th day, and a 20-hour bargaining session ending shortly after 6 a.m. today failed to bring settlement on a new contract.

Originally, affiliated Local 10 of the Plate and Paper Handlers Union joined Local 13 of the International Printing Pressmen in the strike, but reached new contract agreement last Wednesday.

Manning of six newly installed eight-unit presses at the News is the final issue in dispute.

Negotiations were recessed indefinitely only two hours before Freeman Frazee, Local president, announced at a news conference he would recommend return to the Free Press, but not the News.

Hunter Plays Dead, Escapes Bout With Bear

WHITEFISH, Mont. (AP) —

Montana hunter Halbert Harvey played dead, and he credits the corpse-like pose with preventing him from becoming one in a fight with a grizzly bear.

The 60-year-old Whitefish lawyer, hunting north of here Wednesday, had just passed a big spruce tree when he heard a noise, turned and saw the grizzly charging.

The silvertip's first swipe spun Harvey's rifle away and sent him sprawling.

There he stayed as if dead, his face pushed into the hillside, while the grizzly bit and clawed him. The bear finally walked away.

Hunting companion Don Siers, some 300-yards away, heard the commotion and hurried to the spot to find his injured friend.

Harvey was in good condition in a hospital here today after doctors took 50 stitches to close wounds in his scalp, hand and foot.

Wayne Realtor Indicted For Land Frauds

CLEVELAND (AP)—A federal grand jury indicted a Michigan man Friday on charges of defrauding Albee Homes, Inc., of Niles, Ohio, of more than $75,000 while acting as the company's agent in obtaining land grants.

Named in the indictment is Donald Cox, a real estate operator, of Wayne, Mich.

The indictment charges that Cox collected $29,200 from Albee Homes for land deals that never existed—one for the purchase of lots in Kent County, Michigan, and the other for the purchase of property in Saginaw, Mich.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Nathaniel R. Jones said neither transaction took place and Albee Homes never received the deeds but Cox received the money.

Another count charges Cox told Albee Homes that $22,500 was the lowest price for which he could obtain land in Flint, Mich., while he got the property for $12,500.

Romney Leaves For Vacation In South California

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney went on an 18-day vacation today, heading for "someplace" in Southern California to get away from it all.... except for a speech here and there.

Meanwhile, he is scheduled to address the County Supervisors' Association of California at Palm Springs Nov. 18, the Prayer Breakfast of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce Nov. 19 and the 70th National Conference on Government of the National Municipal League Nov. 20.

Ford Co. Faces Total Layoff

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — The Ford Motor Co.'s 160,000 hourly workers today face the possibility of a total layoff sometime next week over labor trouble still brewing nearly two months after agreement on a national contract.

However, hope persisted that this might be avoided.

Ford, blaming parts shortages from United Auto Workers' local strikes at eight factories, laid off 33,500 men Friday in plants around the country.

This brought the total idle to 57,600, including the 24,100 on strike. Ford has said its entire 90-plant system may become idle by next week.

Ford and the union agreed on a national contract Sept. 18. It does not become effective, however, until supplementing local-level agreements are reached at all the plants.

There was no apparent change in the company-union standoff since Ford agreed Friday to meet with the UAW's

Bipartisan Harmony Jolted In Lansing

New Highway Board Lineup Irks Ferency

LANSING (AP) — Pledges of bipartisan harmony following the Nov. 3 Democratic legislative sweep were jangled by a discordant note today.

Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency Friday blasted Republican Gov. George Romney's appointment of a bipartisan State Highway Commission as being "high-handed."

He added that it "speaks poorly for the future of relations with the legislature."

Romney appointed two Republicans and two Democrats to the new constitutionally established commission, "but by-passed consultation with Democratic leaders in making his selection," Ferency said.

The appointments must be confirmed by the Democratic-dominated Senate, but Romney failed to consult with Democratic leaders of that chamber, he added.

Both Romney and Democratic lawmakers have been pledging cooperation—if the other side shows a certain amount of reasonableness—since the election in which Democrats took control of 95 of the 148 legislative seats. Some of the Democrats have been pledging it even longer—in anticipation of a take over in at least one chamber.

But, said Ferency, "cooperation is a two-way street, we expect to be consulted on the appointment to bipartisan boards and commissions, particularly where there is a statutory or constitutional requirement for bipartisan membership."

Willing To Cooperate
"If he does consult in advance on appointments requiring Senate confirmation—and particularly appointments of Democrats—I am sure he will find the Democratic majority willing and ready to work with him," Ferency added.

As it was, he added, Sen. Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, the newly elected Senate majority leader tried in vain to talk to Romney about the appointments Thursday.

"The governor lied to Senator Dzendzel by telling him it was too late and that the appointments were all set," Ferency said. "The truth is that at least one of the appointees had not yet consented to accept such an appointment."

"The governor called this prospective appointee on a mobile telephone from his car (Friday) morning—the day after Senator Dzendzel had been told the appointments were all set," the Democratic leader added.

Romney left Friday for an 18-day vacation in California, and in his absence, Press Secretary Richard Milliman answered Ferency. He said:

"When Gov. Romney talked with Senator Dzendzel Thursday, the commission was indeed all set—awaiting only (Grand Rapids Attorney Richard) VanderVeen's approval to take the assignment. VanderVeen had been contacted and has asked for time to consider it."

Milliman said he was prepared for Ferency's blast. He had been informed earlier in the week, he said, "by a Democrat who really knows what cooperation means, as well as the loss of who was appointed, Ferency was going to react in precisely the way he has done."

"However," he added, "considering the top caliber of the four appointees—including the professional competence of the two Democrats, as well as their service to the Democratic Party—I really didn't believe Ferency would issue the statement we had been told to expect," Milliman added.

Deserters Found After 20 Years

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet police have tracked down two World War II deserters who hid out for more than 20 years in the woods, the newspaper Sovetskaya Rossiya reported today.

The paper said Twenty Teryokha and his son, Vladimir, took refuge in the woods near their village in northeast Russia when the Soviet army drove out the Germans.

It said they lived in dugouts during the winter stealing food and supplies from nearby settlements. They made clothing from animal skins.

Busy President May Find Time For Deer Hunt

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson focuses his attention today on social welfare problems and his legislative program. But he may find it hard to stay indoors, for this is the first day of the deer hunting season.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze are on hand to help in planning the legislation Johnson will recommend to Congress in January.

The domestic proposals he will submit will form the basis of his "Great Society" program, and Wirtz and Celebrezze's departments will play major roles in implementing it.

Mexican Leader Leaves
But the biggest event in these parts today is the start of the deer hunting season and while the President, an ardent hunter, insists he will stick to his official talks through most of the day, he allows that he might make one little outing in search of the fleet-footed deer on his ranchland.

Friday afternoon, President-elect Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico ended a 27-hour stay at the LBJ ranch.

The Mexican leader held a 15-minute news conference for newsmen from his country before flying from the President's backyard landing strip.

Johnson, meanwhile, chatted with American newsmen. He made no stunning pronouncements.

Wirtz and Celebrezze had arrived minutes earlier aboard an Air Force jetstar transport.

When Diaz Ordaz plane taxied away, the President and Mrs. Johnson and the two cabinet members got into an electric-powered golf cart and headed for the ranch house.

Farmer Loses $100,000 Suit

CHICAGO (AP) — William Lusk, 58, ended his 15-year battle with "those government tax boys" Friday and went home to his Southern Illinois farm $100,000 poorer.

Wearing a hearing aid rented for him by the government at $1 a day, Lusk calmly watched as federal Judge James B. Parsons signed a court order divesting Lusk of more than $100,000 in securities.

Judge Parsons also ordered Lusk freed from County Jail, where he had been since May on a contempt-of-court order. At that time he refused to produce the stocks.

"Maybe I should have hired a lawyer when all these troubles started," Lusk said after court.

"Now I'll go back to the farm to harvest a crop of hops and gather my scattered chickens."

The hearing aid was necessary because Lusk, a bachelor, is nearly deaf and often has been unable to understand his court-appointed attorneys or the court.

The government will use the securities to satisfy nearly $79,000 in income tax liens dating back to 1945. Funds remaining will be returned to Lusk.

For years the fiercely independent farmer ignored government summons and claims. Once drawn into court, Lusk refused to pay, claiming the "tax boys" must have erred in their calculations.

Last December, however, he offered to settle with the government for $500.

The federal prosecutor termed the offer ridiculous, and Judge Parsons ordered Lusk to take a mental examination.

"This guy is one for the books," said attorney Sidney J. Goldstein, appointed last year to defend Lusk.

"I'm sure the government would have settled for less," Goldstein said, "provided that he would consent to sell his securities and then turn in the money."

"But he'd rather go down the drain than compromise, even though he knows the government wouldn't bend."

Lusk's only complaint Friday, Goldstein said, was the fact that the case had lasted only 15 years.

"He wanted to beat Sgt. (Alvin) York's record of 17 years," Goldstein said. York, the World War I hero who died recently, also was involved in a tax dispute with the government.

Communist Rail Strike Ends; Cost Italy 56 Million

ROME (AP) — The week-long Communist union strike against Italy's railway system entered its final day today. The walkout cost the economy an estimated $56 million.

The Italian General Confederation of Labor, however, threatened still further strikes against the state-owned system because its contract dispute remained unsettled. It is seeking increased benefits for state employees.

Non-Communist unions refused to join the walkout, which since Monday has thrown the system's more than 2,200 daily trains into chaos.

Two Boys Perish In Old Truck Fire

FLINT (AP)—Fire in an unused truck claimed the lives of two 6-year-old boys at play Friday.

Timothy McQueen and Douglas Phillips apparently ignited the blaze while playing with matches in a truck parked behind Timothy's Genesee Township home, Sheriff's officers said.

Hunters Report Early Kills As Season Opens

Deer hunters found conditions largely favorable for the opening of the season today in the western portion of the Upper Peninsula, and there were reports of early kills from several localities.

The weather was cooperative at least during the morning hours, with the woods quiet and temperatures in the high 30's. As the morning advanced the sun broke through the overcast. Partly cloudy sky and continued cool was forecast for the weekend.

One of the earliest kills reported was from the Fayette area where Wayne Van Remortel of Armada, Mich., son of the Carl Van Remortels, bagged a 150-pound four-point buck about a mile from his home at 7:30 a.m.

Wayne, who is head basketball coach at Armada, arrived home at 11 p.m. Friday, was up by 6:30 and in the woods. He was back home with his buck by 7:45. Last season both Wayne and his father were successful.

For hunters living east of M-77 (Blaney Park) in the Upper Peninsula and throughout the Lower Peninsula the deer hunting season will not open until Sunday (tomorrow) morning.

Any Deer Kill Wins Approval

More Michigan deer hunters than ever before are behind the Conservation Department's program of shooting antlerless whitetails.

That's what the Department's latest opinion poll of licensed sportsmen shows.

When asked if they thought it was necessary to shoot a limited number of does and fawns as well as bucks in some parts of Michigan, nearly two-thirds of the survey's responding hunters replied "yes."

The percentage of hunters answering in favor of special seasons is the highest recorded since the Department started posing this question in 1956.

The Department's inquiry drew "yes" replies from more than 56 percent of the Upper Peninsula hunters who answered it. Also in the "pro" column for special seasons were nearly 65 percent of the resident hunters from the northern Lower Peninsula and 67 percent of the responding sportsmen in the southern Lower Peninsula.

Among those favoring antlerless deer hunting, the most common reasons given were to balance the herd with its range to improve the animals physical condition, and to reduce starvation, overbrowsing, and crop damage.

Their mother had triplet calves in 1962 and all survived, quadruplets in 1963 of which only one survived, and quadruplets again this year. The cow is six years old. Delta Excluded From Snow Fund

Michigan will distribute $635,865 in snow removal funds to 32 counties in the state but Delta County is not on the list because there just wasn't enough snowfall here to qualify for this special aid.

Counties must have at least 70 inches of snow the previous winter to get some of the snow removal funds. Delta county's snowfall measured 56 inches.

Dickinson County, Menominee and Iron were along with Delta in the low-snow belt. Menominee had the least with 29 inches, compared to Dickinson's 51 and Iron's 63.

Schoolcraft had 95 inches of snow last winter and will get $7,571, Marquette had 100 and will receive $30,028, Luce had 133 for $15,530, Mackinac 94 inches for $12,028, and Alger 120 inches for $18,062.

Average snowfall for Michigan last winter was 67.3 inches compared to 72.5 inches the previous winter and 77 inches in the winter of 1961-62.

Keweenaw County in the Upper Peninsula had the highest average snowfall last year—191 inches.

Houghton County was second with 161 inches.

Benzie County had an average of 121 inches of snow last winter—highest in the Lower Peninsula—followed by Antrim County with 119 inches.

This year's largest payment—$51,584—will go to Chippewa County, which had an average snowfall of 129 inches last winter.

To qualify for snow removal funds, counties must have at least 70 inches of snow the previous winter. Distribution of the money is based on a complicated snowfall, mileage and snowfall contour formula.

Snowfall measurements are made at one or more U. S. Weather Bureau Stations in every Michigan county.

The largest snowfall recorded in Michigan last year was 246 inches—more than 20 feet—measured at a station in Gogebic County. The smallest was 14 inches at a station in Isabella County.

Mrs. O'Leary Rites Monday

Mrs. Catherine O'Leary, 86, of 512 S. 13th St., died at St. Francis Hospital at 10:30 a. m. Friday after a three weeks illness.

Mrs. O'Leary was born April 8, 1878 in Negaunee and married Eugene O'Leary on Sept. 12, 1899 in Marinette. She had resided in Escanaba for the past 65 years. Her husband died in 1944. She was a member of St. Patrick's Church and the Ladies Guild, a charter member of the Catholic Women's Club and a member of the Escanaba Women's Club.

Survivors include three daughters, Miss Clementine O'Leary and Mrs. Paul (Jean) Corcoran, Escanaba, and Mrs. Duesy (Helen) Nordstrom, Palatine, Ill.; nine grandchildren; and two sisters, Mrs. Mae Geniesse, Beaver Dam, Wis., and Mrs. Geraldine Hansen, Marinette.

Friends may call at the Allo Funeral Home from 3 to 9:30 p. m. Sunday and parish prayers will be said at 8 p. m. Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 9 a. m. at St. Patrick's Church with Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin B. Melican officiating. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Msgr. Dunleavy Named Judge of Baraga's Cause

MARQUETTE—Appointment of members of a special tribunal for hearing the case for the proposed canonization of the late Bishop Frederick Baraga has been announced by the Roman Catholic Diocese of Marquette.

The tribunal will be canonically established and begins its deliberations after the return from Rome of Bishop Thomas L. Noa.

The hearing here, which will comprise three phases, follows several years' work in preparing the cause of Bishop Baraga. It will be the first step leading to what its supporters hope will be sainthood for the first bishop of the Upper Peninsula.

The tribunal will consist of three judges, one promoter of faith and three notaries.

The three judges will be Msgr. Joseph J. Dunleavy, Bark River; Msgr. Arnold L. Casanova, Marquette, and the Rev. T. Letser Bourgeois, Hancock; promoter of the faith, Msgr. Robert J. Chisholm, Menominee; notaries, the Rev. James Menapace, the Rev. Charles Olivier and the Rev. Raymond Moncher, all of Marquette.

Because of his role, the promoter of the faith is commonly called the "devil's advocate." He is charged with drawing up questionnaires for the interrogation of witnesses.

Function of the tribunal is to sit in judgment on the evidence and arguments in support of the claim of sanctity of Bishop Baraga who labored for many years in Upper Michigan and Wisconsin and who often has been called the "Apostle of the Indians."

He died in Marquette nearly 100 years ago after serving as the first bishop of the diocese of Marquette. The first phase of the tribunal's work will deal with the Bishop's writings, which are being gathered by a postulator and the Baraga for sanctity and determine whether miracles have occurred through his intercession. The third phase will determine whether any public cult has been given to Baraga. Public cult is forbidden to all except those who have been declared "blessed" or canonized by the Pope.

Rapid River Is Hunters' Heaven

By MRS. TOM SAFFORD

The Rapid River area is a favorite spot for hunters and the men and women alike have been preparing for weeks for their hunter guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kheune of Harold's Motel in Rapid River have been in business in Rapid for eight years and this year have 35 hunters at their motel. The hunters are all from lower Michigan and all were up last year with the exception of four. Many of these men have been returning to "Harold's" for the past six years. "Harold's" is just like home to many of the men with the coffee pot always perking and good friends to join in a cup of coffee.

At 5:45 a. m. Friday, three hunters pulled in at the Kheune place, visited awhile with Mrs. Kheune, when in walked four other men they hadn't seen since last year. "It was just like old home week," said Mrs. Kheune.

Mrs. Kheune serves breakfast for all who wish it and packs lunches and fills thermoses for those journeys to the woods. Mrs. Kheune prepared dinner and supper meals for 10 of her hunters serving down to earth cooking of meat, potatoes, salad and dessert.

The men hunt in the Rapid River area favoring the Stonington Peninsula and the Whitefish Hill and think of the area as a good place to hunt because deer are always seen whether they get one or not. The men are made welcome where ever they go says Mrs. Kheune and sums it all up by stating, "It's just like going home for Christmas everyone is happy to see you."

Mrs. Roy Bauerle of the Wyndotte Motel on the Whitefish Hill, cooks for all of her 23 hunters. Mrs. Bauerle's basement is fixed with long serving tables where all the men congregate to eat delicious home cooking, complete with homemade breads and rolls and tell of the deer hunting experiences past and present. Many a yarn is spun and enjoyed. Most of the Bauerle hunters are from the Detroit area, some have hunted in the U. P. before but many are new this year.

Mrs. Hella Niemi of North Delta has four hunters returning to her home from Detroit. Mrs. Niemi has prepared in advance her guests with the baking of homemade breads and Finnish coffee cakes. Mrs. Niemi serves her hunters Finnish dishes which provides a very special sort of a meal. Another highlight at the Niemi home is the use of the sauna. Nothing like a sauna to relax those aching muscles after a day in the woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Wickham of the Wickham Resort "On The Narrows," had eight hunters at their establishment on Thursday and expected eight more some time on Friday. The Wickham hunters come from Lapeer, Muskegon and Detroit and includes one family, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Girard of Newport.

The Girards, having hunted up in this country last year, returned this year, bringing along with them their son and daughter-in-law and four children. At Wickham's the hunters take their separate ways some taking to the woods in Stonington, others the Whitefish Hill area and then some to the Ensign, Ogontz country.

Everyone in Rapid is busy this hunting season if not with out-of-town hunters with their own family hunters. "The men in the red coats," are kings in the Rapid River area with a "Hunters Dinner," served by the women of St. Charles parish on Sunday, Nov. 15, from 4-8 p. m. The American Legion plans a venison feed on Saturday, Nov. 21, at the Rapid Legion Hall from 6-9 p. m. and St. Charles Borromeo Church is holding a special hunters mass at 6 a. m. on Nov. 15 and 22.

Rev. John Vincent Suhr, pastor of St. Charles, announces that a special Sunday evening mass at 8 p. m. will be held at the Sacred Heart Chapel in Stonington on Sundays, Nov. 15 and 22.

Harris Denies Game Charge

Hugh Harris of Rapid River denied a charge of violating the Michigan game laws in disposing of a bear killed about Oct. 1 when he was arraigned in Justice A. J. Mortier's court at Gladstone Friday.

Harris shot the bear while it was damaging an orchard at his hunting camp in Baldwin Township and then dressed it out and placed it in a locker without notifying the Conservation Department, said Conservation officers.

It is charged that Harris killed the bear without a license and did not dispose of the bear as directed by conservation game laws.

Teachers Will Hear Plan For Retirement Unit

Escanaba area educators currently serving as volunteer chairmen for their respective schools in the Michigan Education Home Association's MEHA Village Founding Fund drive will attend an orientation and instruction meeting on Monday, at Escanaba Area High School, local regional chairman Edward Havitz announces.

MEHA Village is the planned retirement residence for Michigan educational personnel currently in the first phase of construction at Saline, 8 miles south of Ann Arbor. The fund drive is a concerted effort to obtain $1,500,000 in voluntary subscriptions from teachers and other personnel on a statewide basis under the general chairmanship of Stephen S. Nisbet, Michigan educator and businessman. The MEHA Village board of governors has under consideration plans to construct an additional residence in the Upper Peninsula as the need arises. The total capacity of the Saline site will be approximately 1,000 retirees when completed.

Volunteers serving with Havitz in the Escanaba area are: G. Dale McNamee, Elizabeth Laviollette, Kenneth Myllyla, John Holochowst, Amanda Ryan, Hilla Karpainen, Joseph LeDuc, Vendela Sundquist, Esther Carlson and Lois Friberg.

Representing nearby areas will be: Clifford Luft, Carney; Charles Byrns and Violet Goodman, Gladstone; Carol Dewane, Flat Rock district; Mary MacMartin, Bark River; Edward Wiciecz, Powers and Hagle Quarntstrom, outlying districts in Delta County.

The volunteers will hear of the MEHA undertaking from Dr. Allan R. Schwarz of Northern University, Upper Peninsula chairman for the appeal.

Man And Wife Killed In Flint Murder-Suicide

FLINT (AP)—The deaths of a Flint man and his wife were ruled a murder-suicide by police today.

The bodies of Harold Harris, 36, and his wife, Evelyn, 35, were found Friday by officers answering a call from neighbors, who said they had not seen the Harris couple for some time.

Police said Harris apparently strangled his wife, then shot himself.

Officers said they found papers indicating Mrs. Harris had filed for divorce earlier this month.

Community TV, Antenna Makers Quarrel On Law

The nation's decision making on what sort of controls it wants over television is grinding its gears a bit.

The industry is pulled in several directions by contesting elements.

Merchandising Week, a McGraw Hill publication, in its Nov. 2 issue states: "The Television Accessory Manufacturers Institute is advising the Federal Communications Commission to freeze all CATV (cable television) applications. The group asked the FCC to advise city and town authorities until either the FCC lays down its own regulations or obtains legislation from Congress."

The accessory manufacturer's interest in having TV audiences provide their own antenna equipment.

The community antenna firms are organized in the National Community Television Association which estimates that there are about 1,300 community antenna television (CATV) systems in 46 states. Only states with no CATV systems are Alaska, Delaware, Rhode Island and North Dakota. CATV systems serve about a million homes, with one of every 52 U. S. television homes connected, or about 3.3 million viewers. The first systems started in 1949 and the average CATV system receives four TV signals, with most systems receiving 5, some only one and others as many as 10.

CATV furnishes a master television receiving antenna service similar to the master antennas found in apartment houses and hotels. CATV systems are franchised or licensed by local authorities, with municipal permission almost universally required.

The NCTA has about 550 operating CATV systems. Michigan has 24 CATV systems, Wisconsin 15, California 109 and Pennsylvania 229.

The CATV industry fights charges that it will mark the end of free TV and pave the way for pay-TV, saying that if there were no free TV there would be no CATV; that if pay-TV ever succeeds both the broadcaster and CATV will presumably have a chance to participate in this new industry, but that this would require rebuilding of a CATV system and a huge outlay of capital. Should pay-TV become a going enterprise, Congress would lay down strict rules to protect the public, says the CATV industry.

In the Nov. 3 election California voters wrote a ban on pay-TV into their state constitution. Subscription television, Inc., went into business in the San Francisco and Los Angeles areas with an investment of more than $22 million and had over 6,000 subscribers under authorization of California laws.

The movie theaters and commercial television interests backed a referendum to repeal these laws by constitutional amendment and ban pay-TV forever and Californians bought it.

Time Magazine suggested "The astounding success of the California initiative could put ideas into other people's heads elsewhere. A united front of glumakers, for example, might collect enough votes to ban the manufacture of Scotch tape. Chrysler could war on General Motors. Whichever collected the fewest votes would die a corporate death."

The current issue of Who's Who in the Midwest published by Marquis—Who's Who of Chicago lists Dr. Alfred Anthony Gossan, optometrist of Escanaba; reports that he was born in Chicago in 1927, graduated from the Illinois College of Optometry in 1949 and wed Virginia Ann Abraham in 1949. They have four children: Alfred, Brian Wesley and Marleigh Jeffrey. He is active in the Little League, Boy Scouts, Civil Defense, Escanaba Recreation Board. He served with the Naval Reserve in 1945-47, is a member of the United Commercial Travelers, the Knights of Columbus, Elks and is author of articles in optometry.

Victor F. Lemmer, a native of Escanaba who lives in Ironwood is also listed. He organized the Lemmer Agency in Ironwood in 1930, was publisher of the Ironwood Times in 1940-45 and has served in many governmental and civil activities. He wed Beatrice Boyce in 1928 and they have a son and three daughters.

Other Peninsula listed include Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Michigan University, Marquette; Dr. John Robert Van Pelt, Jr., president of Michigan Tech, Houghton; Stellanova Osborn of Sault Ste. Marie.

George Romney, governor of Michigan (born at Chihuahua, Mexico, July 8, 1907) is listed, but not former Governor G. Mennen Williams; U. S. Senator Philip A. Hart of Mackinac Island is listed and so is U. S. Senator Patrick Vincent McNamara, born at Weymouth, Mass., in 1894.

Car-Deer Kill Points Big Herd

Car-killed deer in the U. P. in October broke all records by a wide margin. October's figure of 201 car-killed deer compares with 110 for the same period in 1963.

The figures for the year, November through October for the past two years show 781 for 1963 and 1,175 for 1964, an increase of about 50 per cent. This indicates both more deer and more traffic. If the car-deer statistics in Southern Michigan have application in the north hunters can assume a bumper crop waiting for harvest. From 1954 through 1963 the traffic has increased by 36 per cent in Southern Michigan while the highway deer-kill in the same period has gone up a staggering 430 pct.

Newest Voelker Book On Fishing

John Voelker's newest book is "Anatomy of a Fisherman" and it is the work of collaboration with Robert W. Kelley, who contributes 72 full-color photographs. The book retails at $10.95.

Voelker of Ishpeming, a former prosecuting attorney of Marquette County who resigned as a Michigan State Supreme Court justice to devote his full time to writing after the success of his novel "Anatomy of a Murder," writes under his pen name of Robert Traver again.

Kelley is a Life Magazine photographer and this is his first book. Voelker is the author of "Trout Madness," "Troubleshooter," "Danny and the Boys" and "Small Town D.A." besides his best-selling "Anatomy of a Murder," which was made into a movie at Marquette by Otto Preminger. Voelker's new book takes its title from the earlier Anatomy, which has created a rash of "Anatomies." The Voelker title, in turn, is an heir of Burton's classic "Anatomy of Melancholy."

"Old fishermen never die; instead they write books about their passion, usually couched in a mournful, elegiac, Thoreauque prose," say Voelker in his handsome new book, which is a collection of his thoughts about fishing in general and his own fishing memories in particular.

The book is for fishermen and it seems to be no effort to lure them into a low cost recreation because Voelker estimates that trout are even more expensive than women, costing $5 an ounce when every cost item is considered.

Trout fishing is as self-indulgent as smoking opium, he suggests, but "It's got work beat a mile, and is, if a man can stand it, indecently great fun."

He compares fishermen to hunters and if the likening is heavily biased on the side of the wader set it is also amusing in its account of the subtle forces that have driven men to fishing waters since the beginning of time.

The book sets out to discourage amateurs, but Voelker's fascination with the silly business of chasing fish shines through appealingly. His fans will look for an extension of the delight he created in "Trout Madness," one of the best things he has done.

Home Extension Groups Hold Christmas Tea

More than 100 Schoolcraft County Home Extension study group members and their guests attended the Christmas tea held Thursday evening at Augustana Hall. Colorful exhibits, which included many Christmas items made by clubs were on display.

Highlighting the event was a fashion show presented by the Hat N' Tat study group, which emphasized that sewing is the thrifty way to be fashionably dressed.

Home-sewn outfits for dress and play and night-time attire were modeled by children of the young matrons in this group. Following the modeling of children's clothes, the mothers also displayed their home-sewn outfits.

Tea, coffee and a variety of home-made Christmas cookies, were served from a table decorated in the Christmas motif. Prizes were won by Mrs. William Heminger, Mrs. Raymond Olsen and Mrs. John Haindl.

Mrs. Henry Archey, chairman, Mrs. Dean Deloria and Mrs. Linnea Carlson were in charge of arrangements.

Planners Gather Data On Schools

Members of the Manistique Board of Education and the City Planning Commission met jointly Thursday night with Dr. Fred Vescolani and Dr. James Heald of Michigan State University, school consultants engaged by Vilicam-Leman Associates for a planning study of Manistique.

Dr. Heald praised the cooperation received from the offices of the city school superintendent, E. E. Wuehle and Mrs. Ludwig Hough, former county superintendent and now deputy under the new intermediate school district organization.

The study, he said includes data on finances of outlying school areas and the city, so the report will have greater value to the local district, as well as filling the requirements for the planning commission. Copies of the report have been presented to the district.

Wealth
The city and school districts are sharing local cost of the planning study, which also has federal assistance.

Wealth of the county is not equally divided among school districts, with the result some students have more money or value to provide their education than others.

In Manistique there is $11,100 behind each pupil. The average for the county is $12,100. Germfask has only $3700, while Mueller has $57,000. Expenses also are not equal among the districts, with some spending more on teacher salaries, instruction, or lunches, they noted.

With the new K-12 bill, which requires that all districts provide 12 grades of education, some reorganization may take place, voluntary or through the state. On a county-wide basis, if this came about, 11.9 mills would have to be levied to provide the same amount of revenue as schools of the county now have.

Manistique, which has a high number of teachers with long periods of service (putting them in higher salary brackets) would have to adopt a single salary schedule if reorganization took place, bringing rural teachers up to the Manistique schedule. The average Manistique teacher salary is $5500, while in the townships it ranges from $3400 to $4750. An additional $63,000 or 2 1/2 mills would be needed to provide the salaries.

The total millage levy necessary would be 14.4 mills, which is below the state 16.6 average. However, as rural teachers probably have less preparation (degrees and certificates) than city teachers, the salary cost could probably be met with 1 1/4 mills, they noted.

Buildings and Sites
School population is expected to remain at present levels, with 1213 predicted for 1965, 1199 for 1966, 1206 for 1967, 1200 for 1968, 1193 for 1969 and 1185 for 1970. The gross range is 28.

Students are entering the Manistique system at kindergarten, sixth grade and ninth grade levels. Over the past five years, about 22 per cent of enrolled freshmen did not graduate. This figure, was qualified by Supt. Wuehle, who said the figure included students moving away as well as drop-outs. Dr. Heald noted that accounting records of schools often fail to note if a student moved, or does not show it, perhaps because students left without the information being available to the school.

The state average is 40 per cent and is higher in metropolitan areas. Last year the Manistique system drop-out rate decreased to 10 per cent. Throughout the nation the rate is expected to drop as more concern and realization comes on the drop-out problem.

On school sites and buildings the consultants recommended normal maintenance for Lincoln school, with consideration in the future for lighting and acoustical improvements. Various recommendation were made for the Central school. Most of these are incorporated in plans for the school district being developed in a program with Smith and Smith architects. Lakeside school should be abandoned and a new site obtained south of Cherry St. and between Steuben and Cattaraugus, they suggested.

Special Education
Other recommendations included annual review of school board policies, use of written modified policies available to the public, possible greater sharing of dollars with other units of government, advisory committees of citizens, and a professional growth salary improvement schedule along with an automatic salary schedule, to reward teachers who by attending schools, travel, workshop participation and other activities increase professional abilities.

Omer Schuster, chairman of the planning commission, Max Putters of Vilicam-Leman and members of the Commission spoke briefly. Schuster noted "much spade work has been done, Vilicam-Leman is doing a good job, and Manistique is a good stable community, but needs guidance. Federal government interest in public works and the schools will make it possible to do more. Plans are being devised for this utilization."

In discussing special education, Dr. Vescolani said 5,000 school population is needed and this was one of the reasons for creation of intermediate school districts. Where psychiatric services are also to be provided, $1,000,000 per district would be needed. At least 38 counties in the state have voted extra millage for special education purposes, he said. In other areas, school districts cooperate and share faculty for special education purposes.

The new Schoolcraft-Delta district has ample population for a complete special education service, he said.

School population is expected to remain at present levels, with 1213 predicted for 1965, 1199 for 1966, 1206 for 1967, 1200 for 1968, 1193 for 1969 and 1185 for 1970. The gross range is 28.

Students are entering the Manistique system at kindergarten, sixth grade and ninth grade levels. Over the past five years, about 22 per cent of enrolled freshmen did not graduate. This figure, was qualified by Supt. Wuehle, who said the figure included students moving away as well as drop-outs. Dr. Heald noted that accounting records of schools often fail to note if a student moved, or does not show it, perhaps because students left without the information being available to the school.

The state average is 40 per cent and is higher in metropolitan areas. Last year the Manistique system drop-out rate decreased to 10 per cent. Throughout the nation the rate is expected to drop as more concern and realization comes on the drop-out problem.

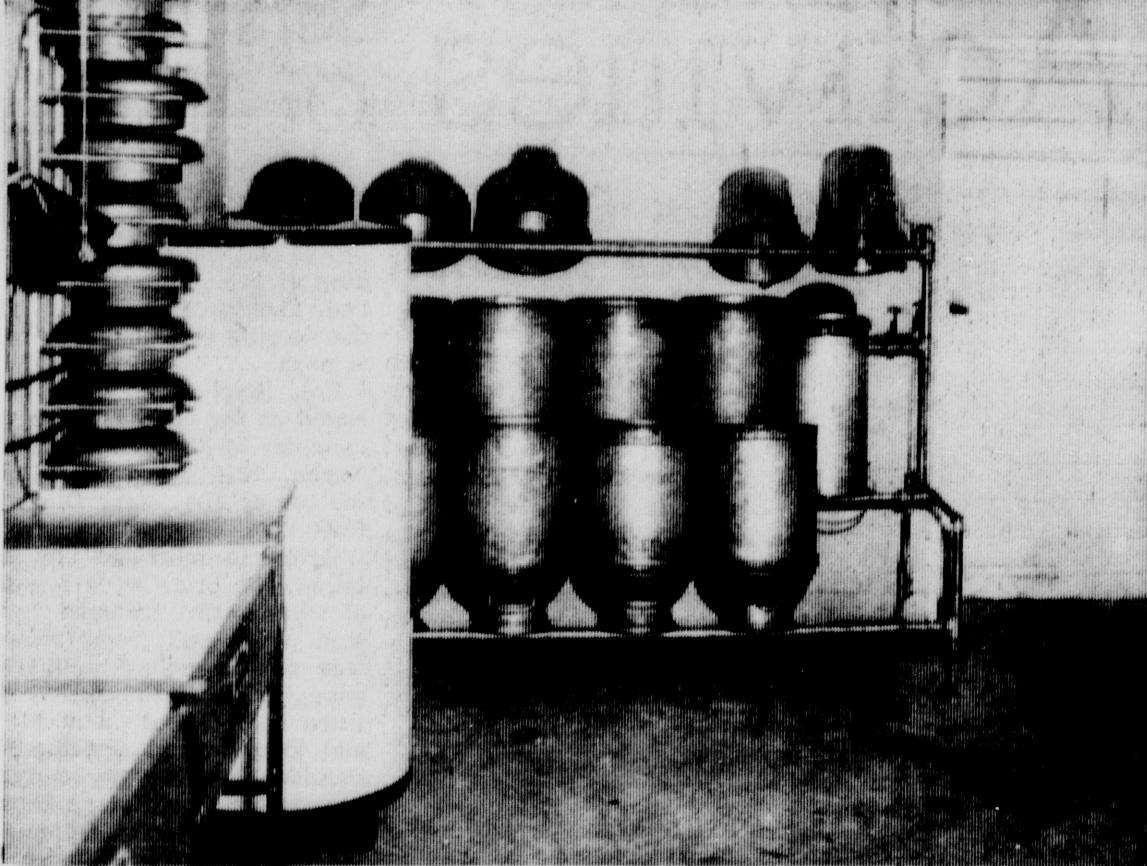

On school sites and buildings the consultants recommended normal maintenance for Lincoln school, with consideration in the future for lighting and acoustical improvements. Various recommendation were made for the Central school. Most of these are incorporated in plans for the school district being developed in a program with Smith and Smith architects. Lakeside school should be abandoned and a new site obtained south of Cherry St. and between Steuben and Cattaraugus, they suggested.

Special Education
Other recommendations included annual review of school board policies, use of written modified policies available to the public, possible greater sharing of dollars with other units of government, advisory committees of citizens, and a professional growth salary improvement schedule along with an automatic salary schedule, to reward teachers who by attending schools, travel, workshop participation and other activities increase professional abilities.

Omer Schuster, chairman of the planning commission, Max Putters of Vilicam-Leman and members of the Commission spoke briefly. Schuster noted "much spade work has been done, Vilicam-Leman is doing a good job, and Manistique is a good stable community, but needs guidance. Federal government interest in public works and the schools will make it possible to do more. Plans are being devised for this utilization."

In discussing special education, Dr. Vescolani said 5,000 school population is needed and this was one of the reasons for creation of intermediate school districts. Where psychiatric services are also to be provided, $1,000,000 per district would be needed. At least 38 counties in the state have voted extra millage for special education purposes, he said. In other areas, school districts cooperate and share faculty for special education purposes.

The new Schoolcraft-Delta district has ample population for a complete special education service, he said.

THIS SCENE is changing. Here's a farm milk room with racks of milk cans and covers, a hot water heater and sink. The new order of milk houses calls for a stainless steel refrigerated tank to hold the milk for tank truck pickup. (Daily Press Photo)

Farm Milk Can Is Disappearing From Peninsula

A familiar fixture of Upper Peninsula dairying appears to be on its way to extinction like the fly net for horses, the shingle saw and the coopeage.

It is the farm milk can. Of the 534 Upper Peninsula dairy farms under the U.P. Milk Marketing Order of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, only 161 sent their milk to dairy plants in cans in October.

This is about 70 per cent bulk tank handling of milk from dairy farms in the U. P. and represents a revolutionary change in the past few years from the traditional method of milk handling in 8 gallon galvanized steel cans with turn caps.

The 161 dairy farmers under the milk order still sending their milk to cheese plants, bottling plants and other dairy establishments in cans compare with an October, 1963 number of 200. It drops steadily and apparently will run out completely in time.

The can producers are the smaller and more marginal dairy farmers for the most part. They debate making an average investment of about $3,000 in milk tank equipment to remain in a business that is changing and becoming more and more difficult for the little operator.

The dairymen buying bulk tanks are the larger operators, just as the potato farmers producing the great part of the Upper Peninsula's potato harvest are a rather small number of large operators, where once there were hundreds of small producers.

Thus a way of rural life is changing. The milk can has been a fixture of Upper Peninsula dairying since dairying started in the last century. Some cans held as much as 10 gallons, some as little as 5, but the standard can holds 8 gallons. It lasts about 5 years unless it is replaced.

Wayne Professor Takes Over As Head Of MAHER

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Wayne State University Prof. Rico Zenti will be installed today as president of the Michigan Association for Health, Education and Recreation.

He succeeds retiring Dr. Thelma Bishop of Michigan State University. The MAHER opened its two-day annual convention here Friday with election of Central Michigan University faculty member Charlotte A. Denman as president-elect.

Assistant professor in the CMU physical education department, she assumes the MAHER presidency a year hence when the organization meets in Detroit.

In other convention business Friday, delegates reelected Vera S. Lotridge of Owosso as secretary-treasurer; Dominic Tadonio of Detroit, vice president for health, and Charles Davidson of Grand Rapids, vice president for physical education.

A son, weighing 6 lbs., 4 1/2 oz., was born Nov. 13 at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lustila of Germfask. Mrs. Lustila is the former Vivian Thibideau.

Hospital

Lois Miller was admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Discharged were Mary Gierke, Dennis Pierce, Jeanette Gauthier and baby.

Schools Merge In Menominee

MENOMINEE (AP)—Breaking from traditional operation of individual schools for each unit, three Catholic parishes in this Michigan-Wisconsin border town have consolidated their schools under a single new administrative board comprised of both lay and religious members.

The three schools are within three blocks of each other and their enrollment totals about 650 pupils in grades one through eight.

Bishop Thomas F. Noa of Marquette appointed the consolidated board's seven members upon nominations from the three parishes affected, plus St. Williams' Parish, a unit whose school at present does not fit into the physical properties of the merger.

Developments were explained Thursday night at a news conference with the new Menominee Central Catholic grade school board which also reflects a break from tradition by seating both religious and lay members.

Dr. Francis Reidinger, chairman, and The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Robert Chisholm, chairman of the building program, said the school consolidation move eliminates duplication of efforts.

The old school of St. John's Parish is to be razed, four new classrooms will be added to those at St. Ann's School and the school building of Epiphany Parish will be retained as at present.

The schools are staffed by teaching nuns from a Franciscan order based at Manitowoc, Wis.

Board spokesmen expected that the entire system of Catholic grade school education here would come under the new board in about five years.

Menominee has no Catholic high school but students from parochial grade schools here attend Catholic Central in neighboring Marinette, Wis., just across the Menominee River to the south.

Bureau Against Wheat Program

EAST LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Farm Bureau Thursday denounced what it called "the thickest of government controls" and said the government's 1964 wheat program cost Michigan growers at least $17 million.

Urging repeal of the wheat program, the 69,000-member bureau said the plan "has lowered the price of wheat to farmers but has increased the price to consumers."

In blasting government controls, it said: "We must always remember that the farm family lives on 'income' not on 'prices.' A high price with a limited production does not produce a satisfactory income."

It contended commodities not subject to quotas, allotments and controls generally are in a more healthy condition than those "which have lost markets through high supports and production controls."

The bureau's delegates, meeting at East Lansing, rejected a resolution supporting the so-called dairyman's class I base by a 234 to 214 vote. Instead, it adopted a resolution taking a flexible stand on the issue.

Educators Speak On Democracy At Soo Hill PTA

An educational PTA meeting was held Thursday at the Soo Hill Elementary School.

Glenn Gamble, Junior High School teacher and representative of the Michigan Education Association, related what the Association means to our children and explained the goals of the MEA. His opening words defined public relations as a system of communication between the organization and the individual.

"The main objectives of the MEA is the improvement of education; through legislative tenure, raises and certification for better teachers for our children, working for state aid and educational research. Certification and quality training is a requisite of an MEA member. The MEA is responsible for the Future Teacher's Club in the High School, which boasted a membership of 50 students in 1963," Gamble said.

Film Shown

"Schools Have Made Us Free," a film originally formulated by the National Education Association, was shown by Tom Hughton, Junior High School teacher. It contained a stirring message of democracy in action promoted by our past and present school system.

Hughton commented that, "we are a young nation, but we are also the oldest democracy in the world. No democracy can function without proper education. Allegiance is inspired through our schools. Knowledge will ever govern ignorance. Are our children being given all they need for their future, for their freedom?"

Luther M. Barrett, superintendent of the Escanaba Area Public Schools, added that "We as parents, never doubt the necessity for food, shelter and clothing for our children. Education also provides food, shelter and clothing. Nourishment for the mind, shelter from ignorance and clothing youth with firm garments of skills and knowledge."

"Are you aware that 58 percent of the present Escanaba Area Public School budget is supported by the State with only 41 percent supplied by local taxes and approximately 1 percent by Federal Aid? The cost of living continues to increase, consequently a 6 percent per year increase is evident in school operational expenses."

Need Services

"Special services are needed to improve our educational system. Remedial Reading and Speech Therapy for example are only two of many services not being offered."

Barrett explained the necessity for the requested 4.5 millage increase for school operation. "The original 4 mills is needed to maintain a normal budget and the additional .5 mill to pay off one-fifth of the operating deficit for the 1964-1965 school year, which is necessitated because of the failure to pass the increased millage proposal of Sept. 1."

The business meeting was conducted by the President, Mrs. Stanley Johnson. Reports given were: Mrs. Kermit Bender, Library; Mrs. Jay C. Jennings, PTA Council and Mrs. John Whitney, concerning the candy sales project. The candy order will be accompanied by a gift of a world globe for school useage.

Plans for the ice rink program will be studied by the following committee: Mrs. Carl Mattson, Mrs. David Anderson, Mrs. Frank Bender and Jay C. Jennings.

Soo Hill PTA now has a record membership of 93. The room count award was won by Richard Shilney's 5th grade.

A brown and orange toned floral piece centered the attractive luncheon table, hostessed by Mrs. Harvey Fournier and the 4th grade mothers.

Women's Club To Meet Wednesday, Program Planned

The Escanaba Women's Club will meet Wednesday, Nov. 18 at the Chamber of Commerce Building at 2 p. m. Program for the afternoon will be "Wild Flowers of the Upper Peninsula," presented by Mrs. Eugene Cole.

Mrs. Cole will show slides of the flowers and give an interesting history of each. She and her husband began this interesting hobby when their daughter began to collect wild flowers for a project in Girl Scouting. Mrs. Ralph Anderson arranged the program.

Tea hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Wesley Hanson, chairman and Mesdames Edward Olson, Edward Boisseneau, John Manning Jr., Byron Zeni, George Bathke, John Pelton, A. J. Goulais and Edward Hurley.

Hermansville Couple Observes Anniversary

About 100 relatives and friends attended a reception held in the parlors of the First Methodist Church in Hermansville honoring Mr. and Mrs. John R. Duca, Sr., well known residents of Hermansville, who observed their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Duca received her guests attired in a navy blue, two piece dress. Her corsage of yellow roses and yellow mums, presented to her by her children, completed her attire.

A vase of large and small chrysanthemums was used for decoration, as well as gold money tree. Gold bells tied to white candles with gold lace ribbon trimmed the tables at which the guests were seated.

A four-tiered cake, frosted in white with gold roses and leaves was topped by a heart-

Wells 4-H Club Elects Miss Way As President

The Wells Willing Workers held their first 4-H meeting Monday in the basement of St. Anthony's Church in Wells. The officers elected are as follows: President, Christine Way; Vice-President, Regina Piron; Treasurer, Mary Strom; Recreation Directors, Lynn Boucher, Patty Harris, Cindy Beecher, Norbert Beauchamp and Jerry Otavrovec; News Reporters, Deborah Richer, and Mary Beth Tanguay.

Following the meeting the newly elected officers attended Delta County's 4-H officer training school at John Lemmer School. The officers were given an outline of their duties and responsibilities and a model business meeting was put on by the Ensign 4-H officers.

Christ The King Church Will Host Sunday At Seven

Christ The King Lutheran Church will host this week to the Sunday at Seven series of evening services. The guest speaker will be the Rev. J. Bruce Brown of the First Methodist Church in Escanaba preaching on the theme: "About Apples And Pictures." The soloist will be Harold Smith singing "When We See Christ." Special guest song leader from the First Presbyterian Church will be Leonard (Gumbo) Olson accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Carl Wedell.

The service will begin at 7 p. m. at Christ The King Lutheran Church, 13th Ave North and 18th St. in Escanaba. The public is invited to attend these United Church Services each Sunday evening.

Home And School Meets Monday At St. Patrick's

The monthly meeting of the Home-School Association at St. Patrick's School on Nov. 16 will feature a Book Fair.

Parents will be able to see new books at the Book Fair in the Music Room of the school both before and after the regular meeting. This is a rare opportunity in Escanaba to buy from an assortment of 1500 books which includes 600 different titles from 9 publishing houses. This material is for pre-school through ninth grade readers, and is available at an opportune time for Christmas giving to children.

After a brief business meeting, the membership will hear Sr. Marie Martha, O. P. librarian at Holy Name High School.

This event prompted a poster contest at the school. Books from the Fair were awarded as prizes to: Pat McMonagle, 8th grade; Nancy Arnold, 7th grade; Don LeMire, 6th grade; Luanne Young, 5th grade; Tony Guay, 4th grade; Michael Manning, 3rd grade and Greg Rose, 2nd grade.

The posters are displayed in downtown stores and list times of sale in addition to the regular meeting.

Powers-Spalding

Mrs. William Wheeler and daughters, Mary and Patricia, and Mrs. Sam Wheeler visited in Kenosha over the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Wheeler.

Hunters who shoot their buck or legal doe or bear from the Powers-Spalding area, or if some odd or humorous hunting story has occurred are asked to phone HX 7-5447, and it will be published in the Escanaba Daily Press.

Masses at the St. Francis Xavier Church on Sunday, Nov. 15 will be 6, 8:30 and 10:30 a.m.

Dance Tonight

The Tony Rivard Post 244 of the American Legion is sponsoring a dance tonight at the Legion hall. Music will be furnished by the Wells Family Orchestra. Dancing is from 9:30 to 1:30.

Sara Norlin Is Bride Of Thomas O. Duffy

The altars of St. Anne's Church were adorned with vases of mum and pompons in fall shades today for the wedding of Miss Sara Ann Norlin and Thomas O. Duffy. The double ring ceremony was held at noon.

Rev. Stephen Mayrand officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Norlin, 1612 1st Ave. S. and the son of Mrs. Mary Duffy of New York City.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with seed pearls and reembodyered lace on the bodice and front panel. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice, scooped neckline, and long tapered sleeves. The shoulder length veil of nylon illusion was held by a crown of pearls. For the reception the flowing train was held up by three fabric roses. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations, mums and trailing ivy.

Sharon Norlin, sister of the bride, wore a turquoise sheath for her role as maid of honor. Carole Summers, bridesmaid wore a yellow dress. The street length dresses were brocaded in gold with scoop necklines and flowing back panels. Their matching headpieces were circular with illusion veils. They carried cascading bouquets of mums and pompons in fall shades.

Owen Duffy, the bridegroom's brother from New York, attended as best man. John Norlin, brother of the bride from Topsham, Me., was groomsmen. Another brother,

MRS. RUSSELL Raymond Romashko, who was married in a ceremony Nov. 7 at St. George Catholic Church in Bark River, is the former Maxine Judith Sagataw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sagataw, Wilson Rte. 1. The couple will live in Escanaba Rte. 1. (Gordon Nelson Photo)

There will be no Confirmation Class for the next two weeks at Christ The King. Classes will resume on Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 2 and 3.

Jackie Unable To Get Airborne After Beer Sips

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (AP) — Jackie took a sip from the nearly full can of beer someone had left in a restaurant parking lot.

One sip followed another, and he tried a running takeoff. But he couldn't get airborne and crumpled in a heap.

He shuffled back to the beer can for a few more sips, and tried once again to get both feet off the ground. But Jackie had no luck, and was last seen shuffling south on U.S. highway 17.

Why didn't the police help him? Officers said they debated it, but they could only book humans. Jackie is a seagull.

Northern Wildcats In Sneak Preview

Basketball fans will get a sneak preview of Northern Michigan University's cagers Wednesday night at 7 when coach Stan Albeck and his Wildcats hold an intra-squad scrimmage at the Escanaba High School gymnasium.

The public is invited to attend along with area basketball teams. There will be no admission.

Four former Upper Peninsula high school standouts, including Con Yagodzinski, ex-Holy Name ace, are among the 17 members of the 1964-65 edition of the Wildcats who open their season at Bradley Dec. 1.

Other U. P. members of the squad include Bill Koski, Champion, one of the Peninsula's all-time scoring greats; Les Coduti, former Ishpeming star; and 6-7 Bruce Forstrom and Tim Bullock, both former Marquette Graveret players.

Yagodzinski scored 750 points in three years for the Crusaders including a 20 point game average his senior year. "Yago" was an All-U. P. and All-State selection in 1961 and again in 1962.

In four years at Champion, Koski tossed in 1,953 points while the Indians were compiling a 74-14 record. Koski averaged 32 points per contest his senior years, and 24 his junior year. One of his high school mentors was Fred Boddy, Escanaba native.

Coduti paced the Hemat to a 13-7 mark last year, averaging 17 points per game, while Forstrom, an All-State Class "A" first-team selection, was leading Marquette Graveret to a 15-5 record and a U. P. crown. Forstrom hit the hoop at a 27-per-game clip.

Bullock has been a member of Albeck's team since 1961 and nailed down a starting position last season.

Fans also will have the opportunity to see Gene Summers, one of Michigan's most highly - heralded basketball players. The 6-4 center averaged 28.5 points per game last season for Flint Junior College and received All-American honors.

Other outstanding members of the team will include 6-5 Duane Soine of Roseville, NMU's second-leading rebounder last year; 6-9 freshman Bill Driskell of Robbins, Ill.; and sharp-shooting Paul Cibula who played his high school ball at Green Bay West where he won all-conference honors.

Northern's cagers also will run through their practice drills.

In seven years at Northern, Albeck has compiled a 114-47 record while four of his teams have won Michigan NAIA crowns.

Northern will open its home schedule Dec. 5 against Wisconsin State (Oshkosh) after meeting Bradley and playing Michigan State Dec. 3 at East Lansing.

Watch Out For Eben, Warning To CL Coaches

EBEN—Rival coaches are casting an anxious eye toward the Eben Eagles as the 1964-65 basketball season nears.

Coach Jim Depew, in his second season at the Eben helm, has eight lettermen and eight seniors on his squad this year.

What makes that even more impressive is the fact that his Eagles won 17 of 22 starts last year and made a strong run for the Central League championship. Two of the five defeats were in overtime games and cost the Eagles the league championship.

The only player lost through graduation was Bart Norman, captain of last year's team.

Jets Recall Rademacher

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie flanker back Bill Rademacher, former Northern Michigan star, was returned to the New York Jets active list Friday to replace injured Clyde Washington of the American Football League team. Washington suffered an injury of his Achilles tendon in the game with Buffalo last Sunday.

Irish Magic Rug Spartan Target In Today's Game

By The Associated Press
"We hope to pull the magic rug out from under this Armenian rug salesman," said Michigan State football Coach Duffy Daugherty.

Ara Parseghian is coach of unbeaten Notre Dame, not a rug salesman as Daugherty jokingly labeled him.

But Parseghian and his renovated Fighting Irish try today to extend the magic that has catapulted them to the No. 1 spot in the country. They play Michigan State, a team that has defeated Notre Dame teams eight straight times since 1954.

In a Friday night game, Miami won its third straight, crushing Boston College 30-6 as Bob Biletniok scored touchdowns on runs of 20 yards and one yard.

Parseghian was cautious but confident about his team's chances for its eighth victory.

"They're not so awfully big, but they're quick," the coach said Friday. "They are aggressive. They pursue and gang tackle. They swarm all over you. The pressures are heavy, but our boys will not shy from them."

The Irish go into the game with the nation's best defense against rushing while the Spartans are rolling along on a three-game winning streak after dropping three of their first four games.

Ready to take over the No. 1 position if Notre Dame stumbles is Alabama, second-ranked and height department with four players 6-foot or taller.

Returning lettermen are co-captains Keith Alto and Stan Smith, Bill Carlson, Andy Freberg, Arne Haavisto, Wayne Johnson, Dan Johnson and John Woodaz.

Other members of the squad are Bruce Hill, Dave Brissan, Gerald Seppi and Tom Woodaz.

Pettit Reaches Point Plateau

By The Associated Press
Bob Pettit is working on his second 20,000 points. The Boston Celtics will settle for a couple of clutch baskets.

St. Louis' Pettit became the first 20,000-point scorer in National Basketball Association history Friday night, pouring in 29 in the Hawks' 123-106 loss to Cincinnati. The Celtics, meanwhile, blew a big lead for the second straight night and dropped a 114-112 cliff-hanger to Los Angeles, ending their home court winning string at 18 games.

The NBA champions had two with two free throws but Sam Baylor put the Lakers ahead onds after hot-handed Elgin shots at a tie in the last 16 seconds. Jones and Tom Heinsohn failed to connect. The Celtics, who won their first 11 games before Philadelphia stormed from 25 points behind and nipped them 110-109 Thursday night, blew a 15-point fourth quarter lead against Los Angeles.

Pettit, in his 11th NBA season, drew a standing ovation and collected the game ball and a huge cake after hitting his 20,000th point early in the second period at Cincinnati.

"This was the only record that I ever really wanted to get," the 6-foot-9 sharpshooter told the crowd during the break in play.

Pettit's feat overshadowed the return of Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson, who contributed 22 points and 10 assists after missing four games with an eye injury. Jerry Lucas scored 30 points and Jack Twyman 25 as the Royals pulled away to a 90-76 third-quarter lead and breezed the rest of the way.

Baylor, free from the knee ailments that plagued him last season, scored 13 of his 36 points in the final quarter as the Lakers wiped out a 98-83 Boston bulge. Jerry West added 32 points for the Lakers, who lead the Western Division with a 9-3 mark.

Sam Jones' 32 points paced the Celtics, whose Eastern Division lead over Cincinnati was trimmed to 3½ games.

The Celtics play at Philadelphia tonight while the Royals visit New York. The Lakers are at Baltimore and the Hawks entertain San Francisco.

Title Fight Off; Clay Has Surgery

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay underwent a successful operation for a hernia Friday night that forced an indefinite postponement of Monday's scheduled rematch with Sonny Liston.

It is unlikely that the bout will be held within six months.

Clay was stricken Friday night after dinner and was rushed to Boston City Hospital where Dr. William McDermott of Harvard performed an "easy" one-hour operation that he called "common but serious."

Dr. McDermott said Clay could resume fairly normal physical activity in about a month and would have to lay off any heavy labor for three months. The 22-year-old champ would not be ready to box in competition until after another long conditioning process.

"The championship bout will be held in Boston when Clay is fit," said Herman Greenberg, chairman of the Massachusetts Boxing Commission. Representatives of all parties involved indicated they were in agreement.

When Liston first heard the news at his Plymouth, Mass., training camp, he commented, "I wonder he got a hernia running up and down like a wild man." Later, after the operation, he added, "it could have been worse. It could have been me."

Clay had just finished eating dinner in his hotel suite with Drew (Budini) Brown, his friend and assistant trainer, when he became ill.

"He got violently sick and started to throw up," said Brown. "His stomach swelled up the size of a football. I wanted to call a doctor but Clay said 'no, get me to a hospital quick. I'm in bad pain.'"

An ambulance rushed the champion to the hospital while wild rumors began to spread in press headquarters downtown.

Sam Silverman, the local co-promoter with Inter-Continental Sports, Inc., hustled to the hospital. Shortly afterward he announced the fight had been postponed indefinitely.

Garland (Bill) Cherry, attorney and also a stockholder in Inter-Continental, said there was no insurance carried on the fight.

Frederick Brooks, president of Sportsvision, the closed circuit firm that hoped to fill 600,000 theater and arena seats with this telecast, was unable to estimate his losses immediately. Asked if it could be as high as $250,000, Brooks said, "it could be somewhere around that but I couldn't even guess. There are so many things involved."

The delay was particularly aggravating to Liston who admits to 30 years. The former champion had hoped to regain some of the prestige he lost Feb. 25 when he lost his title to Clay while sitting on a stool when the bell rang for the seventh round. Liston said he had injured his left shoulder in the Miami fight.

Liston's camp had to decide whether the fighter should wait for Clay to recover or take another bout with some other contender.

While Clay was waiting for the surgeons to decide if an operation was necessary, Dr. McDermott said one of the nurses asked the champ: "You're the greatest, aren't you?" "Not tonight," was the answer.

Dr. McDermott said Clay had been suffering from an incarcerated groin hernia with a congenital defect in the abdominal wall.

All seats will be sold for $5 and fans may write to the Marquette Hockey Club, P. O. Box 25, Marquette, Mich., for tickets.

Gaubatz Man In Middle As Lions Tackle Browns

By The Associated Press
Dennis Gaubatz will be the man in the middle Sunday when mastery of the Cleveland Browns.

Gaubatz, a second-year pro making his 1964 starting bow, has a pair of big assignments in the pivotal inter-division game at Cleveland — replace all-pro middle linebacker Joe Schmidt and stop all-pro fullback Jimmy Brown.

If the 23-year-old LSU alumus has any success, the underdog Lions—who never have lost a regular season game to Cleveland—may be able to stall the Browns' Eastern Division championship drive and keep themselves in the Western Division title picture.

Division crowns in the American Football League can be all but wrapped up too Sunday when the Buffalo Bills risk their perfect record against the Boston Patriots and the San Diego Chargers meet the Kansas City Chiefs. The Bills are 2-2, Kansas City is 1-3, the Patriots are 1-3 and the Chargers have a two-game bulge over the Chiefs in the West.

Detroit and the Los Angeles Rams trail Baltimore by 2½ games in the NFL's Western race. The Colts, riding an eight-game winning streak, may have trouble with the Minnesota Vikings, who upended them 34-24 in the season opener. The Rams meet the often-lamed Chicago Bears at Los Angeles.

The St. Louis Cardinals, two games behind Cleveland in the East, get another shot at the New York Giants, 34-17 upset winners in the teams' first meeting. Green Bay is at San Francisco, Philadelphia at Dallas and Washington at Pittsburgh in other NFL games.

The New York Jets visit the Denver Broncos and the Oakland Raiders play host to the Houston Oilers in AFL games.

The Lions' Schmidt suffered a dislocated shoulder early in last Sunday's loss to Green Bay. Gaubatz, a 6-foot-2, 220-pounder, inherits the middle line-backer's watchdog role against Brown, who needs only 66 rushing yards for his sixth 1,000-yard season. He romped for 121

Six Lettermen, New Coach At Rapid River

RAPID RIVER—New coach Bill McGovern will have six lettermen available for action when his Rapid River Rockets open the 1964-65 basketball campaign Nov. 20 in a home stand against Powers-Spalding.

McGovern, former Escanaba athlete, succeeds Barney McCall as coach of the Rockets.

Heading the list of returnees is Doug Moss, 6 foot 1½ inch senior who ranked among the top 10 scorers in the Upper Peninsula last season when he tallied 486 points.

Lost through graduation were Eldon Johnson, Wallace Johnston, Dan Mosier and Chuck Parrett.

Last year's Rapid River team won 8 and lost 12. The Rockets, a Class D school, compete in the Central League.

Chisox Owner Eyes Grid Team

CHICAGO (AP) — Arthur Allyn, owner of the Chicago White Sox baseball team, is intent upon getting an American Football League team in Chicago.

"That's my objective," said Allyn Friday night. "I'm not looking for an expansion team. I want an established team to move into Chicago."

Allyn would not indicate which team he is after.

"We intend to operate our own team," said Allyn in answer to whether or not he was simply looking for a tenant for White Sox park.

"We want an established team. We have made formal applications and financially we are prepared."

"We expect to have a team by 1965."

Only Two Vets Back On Squad For Norm Jahn

COOKS—Graduation practically wiped out the Cooks High School basketball team of last year and Coach Norman Jahn has only two returning letter winners on this season's squad.

In addition to lack of experience, the Cooks team is faced with a serious height problem. Joe Carley, a 5-11 sophomore, is the only player on the squad taller than 5-8.

The Clippers had one of their best records in recent years last season when they won nine and lost 13, capturing their district Class D tournament championship before bowing to Pickford in the regional.

Back from that squad are junior Phil Hartman and sophomore Bruce Swagart. Other members of the team are Keith Popour, Mike Swagart, Pete Thelander, Joe Carley, Randy Savage and Neil Hartman. All are sophomores and juniors.

Lost through graduation were Larry Swagart, Dave Hill, Walt Roberts, Lenny Caldwell and Bill Donovan while Gilbert Carley has transferred to another school.

Final Tribute Paid 'Hutch'

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — A host of baseball personalities join others today in paying final tribute to Fred Hutchinson, former major league pitcher and manager who died of cancer at the age of 45.

Funeral services for Hutchinson will take place on nearby Anna Maria Island, where he lived with his family. He died early Thursday at a Bradenton hospital.

Burial will be early next week in Renton, Wash.

Rose Bowl Bid Up For Grabs

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten football championship and Rose Bowl bid probably will be decided next Saturday when Michigan and Ohio State clash in Columbus.

The race could end if Ohio State defeats Northwestern and both Michigan and Purdue lose. Michigan is at Iowa and Purdue invades Minnesota.

Ohio State has a 4-0 record towards its sig-game schedule and Michigan and Purdue are both 4-1 but play seven-game schedules. A s s u m i n g either Michigan or Purdue win their remaining two games, one loss will put the Buckeyes out of the picture.

On the other hand, if Ohio State wins its remaining two games, the Buckeyes will clinch the title.

One other conference game is on tap Saturday with Wisconsin at Illinois. Outside the league, Michigan State is at Notre Dame, the nation's top-ranked team, and Oregon is at Indiana.

The Big Ten season winds up next Saturday and the Michigan-Ohio State game is the big one. Purdue, if successful against Minnesota, will remain in the running and finishes up at home against Indiana in the battle for the Old Oaken Bucket. Other winners find Michigan State at Illinois, Minnesota at Wisconsin and Iowa at Notre Dame. Notre Dame ends its season a week later at Southern California.

Air Pollution Space Problem

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Scientists are becoming increasingly concerned about a little-publicized problem that must be solved before groups of men can stay more than a few days in space.

The problem is what to do with the hundreds of contaminants from men and machinery that can pollute air in space ships.

In tests in tightly closed chambers on the ground these contaminants have caused painful skin rash, violent nausea and impaired mental performance. On long trips they could accumulate in amounts that would prove fatal.

Toxic Elements Accumulate

Millions of dollars have been spent by industry and government agencies in an effort to identify and filter out these pollutants. The most ambitious project so far is a $1.5-million facility in the Aerospace Medical Research Laboratories at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, where four glass-walled domes have been erected to study men under simulated space cabin conditions.

No results have been released, but enough is known to show that the problem of foul air in space cabins is serious.

One of the top scientists in this research is Dr. Thomas B. Weber, formerly with the Aerospace Medical Center at Brooks Air Force Base, Tex., and now manager of advanced research for space engineering at Beckman Instruments, Inc., Fullerton, Calif.

Weber says all space-cabin simulation experiments so far have had to be called off within a few days because of accumulation of toxic elements in the closed atmospheres.

Threat To Plans

"This may be the reason Russia's recent three-man space flight, which was expected to last several days, ended after only 24 hours," Weber said in an interview. "Monitoring systems may have shown a buildup of contaminants and caused early cancellation."

"Unless an answer is found this is a definite threat to our own plans for a manned orbiting laboratory and it could delay the Apollo program to land men on the moon."

Working under Air Force contracts, Weber has devised instruments to collect and identify more than 400 contaminants given off by the human body and by space-cabin equipment.

So far he has found 20 that are potentially lethal, including highly explosive hydrogen, given off by water used in cooling systems; ozone, given off by electrical equipment; and ammonia, acetone and alcohol, found in breath, perspiration and body wastes.

"None of these occurs in dangerous amounts in a normal environment," Weber said, "but in a small cabin they build up to lethal concentrations in short periods of time."

Beethoven Wins By Landslide In Symphony Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was Beethoven by a landslide — bigger than the one President Johnson chalked up — when the National Symphony Orchestra logged the returns in its favorite symphonic composer poll.

In an awesome display of musical popularity, the Bonn genius got 61.7 per cent of the vote in a field of 38 — a little better than the 61.4 per cent Johnson scored in another sort of contest last week. Immediately behind Beethoven were Sibelius, Mozart, Brahms and Tchaikovsky.

The National Symphony mailed 35,000 ballots to subscribers and the general public. About 1,000 ballots were returned.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

Famed American Art On Exhibit

Works of art by Winslow Homer, Edward Hicks, and other famous American painters can now be viewed at the Escanaba Public Library. An exhibit of art reproductions titled "American Painting," loaned at no charge by the Delaware Art Center will be shown through Nov. 30.

This exhibit is a part of the library's Festival of Arts series planned for the coming months to provide exhibits of art works. Authorized by the library's trustees the Festival will provide eight such exhibits in the next 10 months.

"American Painting" includes such famous paintings as: Edward Hicks' "Peaceable Kingdom," an illustration of the prophesy of Isaiah, Hicks has shown the qualities of the primitive, overlapping forms as though they were cardboard cut-outs, and filling his compositions with details. Winslow Homer's "Boys In A Pasture," is typical of the fresh out-door scenes, vibrant and luminous.

American painting has followed many directions since colonial beginnings. It began with a faint echo of the portrait styles of England and then grew and expanded until today it enjoys a position of leadership in world art circles. Even during its most provincial phase there were a few gifted and original painters like Copley to give it an American character. In the 20th Century American painting has returned to the soil. Sometimes the painters of the American School are divided into categories such as "Historical Ancestors," "American Scene," "Social Protest," and just pure paintings.

The exhibit contains works by Homer, Eakins, Ryder, Martin, Davis, Weber and many others. The Library invites all persons in the area to view these reproductions of some of America's most famous paintings.

North Midwest Farmers Tool Up For Banner '65

By RICHARD HAGEN
In Farm Journal

By no means has this been a Cinderella year for the Upper Midwest farmer. He's battled the adversities of a late spring that rapidly ran out of rain in many areas, an early frost that shaved a few days' maturity off the end of the season in other areas, a beef market that showed no mercy for the traditional choice and prime beef of the northeastern cornbelt.

Soft spots include several counties in southeastern Minnesota and western Wisconsin. Surprisingly, milk production throughout the drought areas has held up very well. There's been some sell-off of calves, replacement heifers and old cows. But good cows are still around.

Those exciting new hybrid sudangrasses and sudan-sorghum crosses helped rescue some farmers. Burton Henry tried 4 1/2 acres of Trudran for the first time this year. In October he was still green-chopping for 120 head of cattle from that patch.

Wayne Dabelstein, another Minnesota farmer, doubted he would have been able to make it without his sorghum-sudan crop. From 40 acres he filled two 14 x 40 silos and has been green-chopping daily since July 10 for 30 head of cattle plus 25 head of spring calves carried on pasture.

A lot more farmers will be trying these two crops in 1965 — many counting on them as regular forage, while others will still regard them as supplemental crops.

But even drought did not kill the market for farm equipment. One equipment sales representative in Wisconsin reported a surprisingly steady demand all year.

"Enough poor corn was made into silage to keep silo unloaders and tube feeders sales going at a brisk clip," he said. "The drought actually may have speeded up silo sales. Lots of farmers had to act fast in early August when they began to see they weren't going to get much corn."

Crop production generally will be off from last year in Minnesota—but 1963 was a record year.

In North Dakota, farming operations continue to get bigger and more efficient, with resulting bigger profits.

Usually the operator who gets bigger is doing most of the "right" things. The North Dakota study showed that 40 per cent of the farmers who added land already were using fertilizer, compared with only one per cent of the absorbed farms. Chemical weed control was a regular practice for 72 per cent of the bigger farmers. Only two per cent of the farmers selling acreage used herbicides.

The shift to bigger farms also brought changes in farmers' consumer demands too, according to the study. These included:

- Demand for higher-priced food, clothing, cars and home furnishings, as well as more spending on recreation.
- More Fertilizer

Evidence of the swing to greater use of fertilizer comes from all four states. South Dakota has shown a 200 per cent increase in the last 14 years. "It's taken awhile, but we've got the ballrolling now on the importance of good soil fertility," says Paul Carson, South Dakota State.

The ball keeps rolling on credit use too. As A. R. Eltsold, directors of the 7th Farm Credit District of the Federal Land Bank, puts it: "Farmers now look upon credit as a necessary part of their farming business, rather than just a burdensome debt."

Through September, the 7th District — comprising Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota — had closed nine per cent more loans than in the same period last year, with 27 per cent greater dollar volume.

Minneapolis Moline reported tractor sales up 15 per cent for the year to date and expected volume to hold in 1965. Their two largest tractors are top sellers.

Badger - Northland reported forage handling equipment sales down in beef areas, but up in dairy areas. "We think we're just seeing the start of a big movement in dairy mechanization," said Richard Walbrun of this firm.

Northrup-King said early orders on hybrid sorghum are excellent. They've tripled output on Trudran for 1965 after selling out on this new crop early last spring.

Even though net farm income this year may not match last year's, upper midwest farmers are confidently tooling up for a banner year in 1965.

National Guard Veteran Dies

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Funeral services will be held today for Col. William Haze, former commanding officer of the 126th Regiment, Michigan National Guard, who died Wednesday night at the Michigan Veterans facility here.

The 81-year-old Grand Rapids native became a member of the National Guard in 1901. He was made a colonel in February 1893.

His long career included action in the Mexican border conflict of 1916 and 16 months in France as a regimental machine gun company commander in World War I, plus five months in Germany with the Army of Occupation.

Col. Haze took the 126th to Camp Livingston, La., in 1941 when it was summoned for federal service prior to World War II but retired shortly afterwards because of age.

His wife, Frances, died two weeks ago in Muskegon. Two survivors include a daughter, Mrs. William McDonald of Muskegon, and 15 grandchildren.

Pope Paul May Someday Visit U.S. And Canada

NEW YORK (AP) — Pope Paul VI someday may visit the United States and Canada, says Msgr. Alberto Giovannetti, the Vatican's permanent observer at the United Nations.

Msgr. Giovannetti said Thursday the Roman Catholic pontiff would make such a trip only in connection with "a religious occasion that would justify such a visit."

The National Catholic Welfare Conference has invited Pope Paul to attend an international convocation for world peace in New York next Feb. 18-20. But Msgr. Giovannetti said "I do not think the conference would qualify as such an occasion."

With The Deer Hunters

Success marked the early morning hunting of two deer season guests at Bill's Bar resort at Rapid River today.

Mrs. Bertha Boone of Wayne, Mich., bagged a 150-pound doe while hunting in the Haymeadow Creek area about 8:15 a.m. She is a member of a family hunting party.

Within an hour after being in the woods this morning Russ Hoskins of Ypsilanti downed a spike horn buck while hunting on the Stonington Peninsula.

Hunting with Francis Rodgers at his camp at Watson, Can't Ruff It, are Pat Farrell, Palmer Derouin, Robert Lambert and Vern Ihlenfeldt.

Dudley Jewell, manager of the St. Petersburg, Fla., Chamber of Commerce and former manager of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, visited old friends in Escanaba Friday. He was back for his annual deer hunt, hasn't missed one here in 15 years. He brought along two friends from Moline, Ill., where he served after leaving Escanaba.

Gladstone State Police reported about 100 hunters have registered at the post, about normal for the first day of the season. There were no reports this morning of either hunting accidents or lost hunters in this area.

Register the location of your hunting party with the nearest Michigan State Police or Department of Conservation headquarters. Many emergency messages are delivered each year and an accurate temporary address will insure speedy delivery.

A camp permit, required to camp on public lands, is available at all license dealers and Department of Conservation headquarters at no charge.

A lost license, lost antlerless deer permit or defective seal does not mean the end of your hunt. A duplicate license may be obtained from any license dealer for 50 cents. If the holder has a legal antlerless deer permit, it must be re-validated at a Department of Conservation headquarters.

Hunting out of the "Bud" Dishno camp at Northland starting today are John Cousineau, Marty Vinck and son, and Bob Cousineau. John is rated "cook" with Marty and son the "washers" for the season. Bob Cousineau's part in camp routine? Just resting, say his friends.

Hunting out of the John Heiden camp in Stonington are John Bell, Mark Bell, Dave Breault, Walter Dubord and Joe Segorski and his son, Ray.

Mrs. Birk Is Birthday Club Party Honoree

ENSIGN—The Ensign Birthday Club honored Mrs. Wallace Birk at her home in Ensign on Tuesday, Nov. 10. This club which has been meeting for over forty years, pays special tribute to its members of their individual birthdays. The club honors each member with a special birthday cake and a monetary gift. Following the afternoon social, lunch is served by the hostess.

One birthday club member remembers as a little girl traveling by horse and sleigh with her mother to attend a birthday club celebration. Mrs. Emily Olson is the only present day member that has been in the Ensign club since its first organization.

Mrs. Ida Peterson presented Mrs. Birk with a birthday cake. Those present at the celebration were Mrs. Esther Mathison of Escanaba, Mrs. Carl Anderson, Mrs. Alma Magnusson, Mrs. Tillie Rudenberg, Mrs. Ida Peterson, Mrs. Robert Olson, Mrs. Emily Olson, Mrs. Henry Lundberg, Mrs. Wayne Christoff, and Mrs. Thomas Sefford all of Ensign.

The club's next meeting will honor Mrs. Alma Magnusson on her birthday, Jan. 6.

Rapid River

Mrs. Lowell Thibault of Rapid River is hospitalized at St. Lukes Hospital in Marquette. Her room number is 116.

Rapid River's freshman class will present the school's annual Thanksgiving play. Mrs. Glenn Nichols is the director.

U.S. G. I. Fires At Soviet Auto

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — A Soviet military mission sedan was fired on by an American guard when it failed to obey orders to halt. U.S. Army headquarters in Europe announced here today.

The incident occurred Wednesday when the car approached a restricted U.S. military area near Nuernberg, the Army said.

The vehicle's two occupants, a Soviet colonel and an enlisted man driver, were detained for about seven hours and then released.

The Soviet military liaison mission is attached to U.S. headquarters. The United States has a similar mission attached to the Soviets in East Germany.

U.S. Army headquarters has protested to the Soviet military liaison mission, located in Frankfurt, that the Soviet car violated a well-marked restricted military area.

The Soviet sedan entered the restricted area at around 1:20 p.m. Wednesday despite signs in English, Russian and German warning against trespassing.

"The sedan's occupants refused repeated orders by a U.S. military guard to halt the car," the Army said.

It added: "When a warning shot was fired into the air, the vehicle attempted to leave the scene. A member of the guard then fired at the vehicle's left rear tire."

Nations Discuss Trade Barriers

BRUSSELS (AP) — Cabinet ministers of the six European Common Market nations met today in what could be a showdown over the union's plans for the Kennedy round of talks on leveling trade barriers.

Common Market experts whipped into shape Friday night their recommendations for cutting tariffs in half on 80 per cent of the area's trade with the industrialized countries of the world.

If the cabinet ministers from France, West Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg, do not approve the experts' list, they will have to ask for a month's delay. The Kennedy round opens in Geneva Monday.

The United States has announced it will have its list ready by the Monday deadline. Other major nations are expected to be ready also.

Within the Common market the most difficult products to settle tariffs on are textiles, automobiles, paper products, watches, chemicals, machinery and nuclear reactors and fuel elements.

Russian Harvest Not Up To Par

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda complained today that Russia's bumper harvest this year "could have been considerably better."

The Communist party organ sounded the first sour note in the flood of self-congratulation here over the successful agricultural year.

It complained that many farms were still producing below capacity because of carelessness and lack of energy.

Nurse Training Project Okayed

Bay de Noc Community College was notified today that the planned Practical Nurse training program has been approved for Manpower funding.

Rep. Einar Erlandsen, Escanaba, who sponsored the legislation enabling the use of these monies in Michigan, discussed the implications of the program through the local Michigan Employment Security Commission office.

"This is providing an opportunity for unemployed people to further their education and prepare themselves for a gainful occupation," said Rep. Erlandsen. $80,664 is to be allocated through the Manpower Development and Training Authority for establishing the training program. The first year will have two separate classes of 25 students each.

"This is the first MDTA retraining program to be held in Delta County and the College is proud to be in a position to provide these opportunities for residents of the area and to bring this economic assistance to the Bay de Noc area," said Rinehart.

Spurred by reports that tuberculosis is on the increase and by plans to counter-attack by intensifying control measures, Christmas Seal campaigners sought total statewide contributions of $1,150,000.

More than 6,932 envelopes were mailed to residents of Delta County where the 1964 campaign goal was set at $3,800, compared with $3,591 contributed by county residents last year.

Cynthia Roby, 17, of Detroit added a "Cinderella" touch to the campaign. A recovered tuberculosis victim discharged from Herman Kiefer Hospital in January, Cindy criss-crossed the state to tell of the need for continued support for one of the nation's most venerable charitable health campaigns and to present toy puppies to encourage children in TB hospitals.

Tuberculosis is not conquered and the fight against the disease that still is crippling nearly 2,500 Michigan residents each year has increased knowledge about such other respiratory diseases as emphysema, asthma and bronchitis.

Bay de Noc Community College president.

Twenty-five persons from Delta, Dickinson, Iron, Menominee and Schoolcraft counties will be selected for the first class, followed by 25 additional students six months later. These people will apply for the program through the local Michigan Employment Security Commission office.

"This is providing an opportunity for unemployed people to further their education and prepare themselves for a gainful occupation," said Rep. Erlandsen. $80,664 is to be allocated through the Manpower Development and Training Authority for establishing the training program. The first year will have two separate classes of 25 students each.

"This is the first MDTA retraining program to be held in Delta County and the College is proud to be in a position to provide these opportunities for residents of the area and to bring this economic assistance to the Bay de Noc area," said Rinehart.

Governor Names Retirement Board

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney Friday announced one reappointment and three appointments to the Municipal Employees Retirement Board and the State Council of Health.

Reappointed to the retirement board was John Fonger of Holland. John Lamerato of Madison Heights will succeed Ann Fonfara of Hamtramck on the board Jan. 1. Neither requires Senate confirmation.

Keith Bowker, 56, of Hadley, succeeds Dr. Mildred Beatty Smith on the health council. His term expires June 30, 1967. M.F. Cotes, 65, of Lansing, succeeds Robert McCauley of Lansing for a term expiring June 30, 1970. Their appointments must be confirmed by the Senate.

Bowker is administrator of the Flint Osteopathic Hospital.

School Prayer Case In Court

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Petitions for preliminary injunction and summary judgment in the Jenison controversy over prayer and Bible reading in public schools come to a U. S. District Court hearing here Nov. 23.

The date was disclosed Friday by Judge Noel P. Fox, who presides.

Parents objecting to religious activities at the public school in Jenison on the Kent-Ottawa county line filed a motion Sept. 15 for a preliminary injunction. It seeks to halt the Jenison School Board from enforcing a newly adopted statement of policy covering the controversial practices.

The board had filed with the court Sept. 1 a motion for summary judgment to dismiss the original complaint of last spring on grounds that there is no genuine issue.

Sought by the parents is an injunction to restrain the school board from enforcing the policy statement which, they say, would authorize teachers to sanction and maintain prayers, require parents or students to manifest objections to prayers or Bible reading, require pupils to remain in or be excused from class during prayers and Bible reading and authorize teachers to utilize or cite religious materials in connection with teaching secular subjects.

Lutherans Send Used Clothing To Needy Countries

One half ton of used clothing left Rapid River Wednesday evening by freight for Iron Mountain. In Iron Mountain the clothing will help fill a train's box car along with other clothing collected from communities all over the Upper Peninsula. The clothing's will be needful to countries overseas.

The 45 cartons of clothing was collected by Rapid River Calvary Lutherans, Stonington's Trinity Lutherans, Rock's Faith Lutheran Church and Perkins Bethany Lutheran.

The L. C. W. units of the Lutheran churches assisted in this missionary project of "Lutheran World Relief."

Countries benefiting from the Lutheran program will be Korea, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Jordan, Hong Kong, Greece, Brazil, Chile, and Tanganyika. Pastor George Olson of Calvary and Trinity Churches said that this project has been under taken by the churches in previous years but this year's collection surpassed any other drive. Rev. William S. Avery, is pastor at the Rock and Perkins churches.

Project At MSU Aided By Sheriff Of Nottingham

EAST LANSING (AP) — The Sheriff of Nottingham in England—a villain in the old Robin Hood stories—has done Michigan State University a good turn.

MSU has started a project of growing trees of literary and historical significance. For a start it has acorns from Sherwood Forest, where Robin Hood and his band reportedly gathered, and hid from the sheriff.

"We didn't know who to write to in Nottingham, England, so we just wrote to the sheriff," said MSU landscape architect Milton Baron.

The sheriff passed the request on the historic tree project on to Old Mansfield Society which sent the acorns to MSU as a gift.

About half of the 50 acorns are from the 1,500-year-old Major Oak, reputedly a tree near Robin Hood's one-time gathering spot.

Fit Girls Can Be Curvy Too

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — "Pure nonsense," is Dr. Paul Hunsicker's answer to the idea that physically fit girls must look like amazons or toughies.

"We must change that image to the idea that the same person is more attractive if she's fit..." He said in a speech prepared for delivery here today.

"We are trying to teach the girls that where there's an attractive curve there's a muscle," he added.

Chairman of the University of Michigan Department of Physical Education, he was on the program of speakers at the Michigan Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation annual convention.

He also is director of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation national program on physical fitness.

"The national program has sensitized people to the need for physical fitness, even though progress has not been as great as we had hoped," said Dr. Hunsicker of its five-year effort.

He said 25 million school children from ages 10 to 17 had taken the fitness tests which include chinping pullups, situps, standing broad jump and the 600-yard run-walk, an endurance test.

Generally speaking, he said, girls have shown less improvement than boys in all tests.

Johnson Pictured With Bared Fangs By Chinese Reds

TOKYO (AP) — The Chinese Communists describe President Johnson as "a bloodthirsty chieftain of U. S. imperialism with his fangs bared" and said he is in a "helpless predicament" in South Viet Nam.

This was the official Chinese assessment of Johnson's election to a full term. It was made by "Observer," a Communist party official writing in the party organ, the Peking People's Daily.

The People's Daily said Johnson's past record indicated he will "carry out the policies of aggression and war more intensely and viciously."

The article called the election campaign "a game of the money bags" in which there was no real choice and during which the candidates quarreled over military setbacks in South Viet Nam.

It said the Gulf of Tonkin naval incident and the U.S. air raid on North Viet Nam were Johnson's "greatest war adventures" but that they had failed "to ease his difficult situation." As a result, the paper said, "he again resorts to deceptive peace tactics, clear evidence that U.S. imperialism is in a helpless predicament."

Highway Mishaps Take Seven Lives

By The Associated Press
Seven persons were killed in Michigan traffic accidents in the early hours of the weekend.

A FEW OPERATORS hope to develop a beef cow operation as a full-time enterprise. Nicholas Dalgord of Fayette, pictured, and his father, Roy, now have 80 brood cows. They sold 24 calves through the Escanaba sale. The prices ranged from 24 to 25 cents per pound.

U.P. Tops U.S. Growth Rate In Beef Industry

Prices paid for feeder calves at the two Upper Peninsula sales this year were down two cents per pound from 1963 and were six to seven cents per pound under prices paid two years ago.

But beef cow numbers in the Upper Peninsula continue to increase and each year more of the heifer calves are purchased by U. P. farmers and taken home as future brood cows, say Michigan State University livestock specialists.

These developments would indicate that, although there is a slowing in the rate of expansion nationally, beef cattle numbers are continuing to increase in the Upper Peninsula. MSU Extension Economist Rick Hartwig of Marquette explains the trend by pointing out that beef operations fit in well as a part-time farming operation to market hay and grass, which would not otherwise be marketed.

Many small beef herds are being established on farms where the operator has sold off a dairy herd due to labor demands or competition from bigger, more efficient dairy units.

Also, says Hartwig, some Western ranchers are finding that the U. P. is a more profitable area than their Western ranches for a full-time beef cow-calf operation.

Retarded School Gets $264 Check

A check for $264.75 for the John F. Kennedy school for retarded children was presented Thursday by the Women's Auxiliary of United Commercial Travelers to Albert Valind, president of the Delta County Chapter, Michigan Association for Retarded Children.

Presentation was made by Mrs. Gerald Babel and Mrs. John Sankovich. The money came from proceeds of a U. C. T. sponsored retarded children's party Nov. 4 at St. Joseph's Hall.

ern ranchers are finding that the U. P. is a more profitable area than their Western ranches for a full-time beef cow-calf operation.

As a background for evaluating the future of beef cow operations in the U. P., Hartwig reviews factors which can affect the price of red meat:

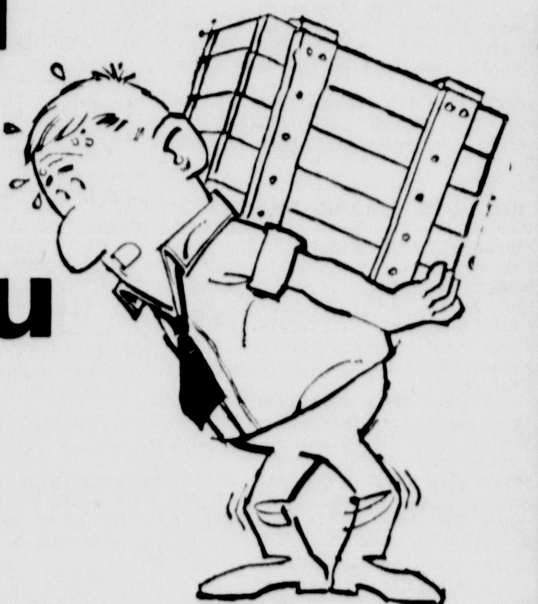

"The current business expansion is one of the longest on record and shows little sign of letting up. Total personal incomes in mid-1964 were five per cent above last year. A similar increase can be expected in 1965. Though demand is important in determining prices of red meat, year to year changes are relatively small in comparison with short-term changes and supplies.

Regarding the outlook for supplies of beef, the present build-up in cattle began in 1957, and in 1962 and 1963 beef cattle numbers increased nationally by about five per cent each year. The impact of the expansion was felt in 1963 and 1964 as both fed cattle prices and feeder prices declined sharply.

Feeder cattle prices in 1963 in the U. P. dropped about four to five cents per pound from '62 and dropped another two cents per pound from 1963 to 1964. Feeder operators last year, confronted with a price drop for slaughter cattle, were forced to reconsider before bidding for feeder calves this fall.

In 1964 cattle numbers are continuing to grow, but at a reduced rate nationally. This represents a leveling off of the expansion. In the U. P., however, the expansion of beef cattle continues. For example, in 1957 there were 254 head sold at the Bruce Crossing feeder calf sale. In 1961, 479 feeders were sold at Bruce Crossing and last month western U. P. feeders sold 1,169 through the sale.
